1. Issuance and purpose

This synthetic circular is issued by the Office of the Dean (Academics) to amend specified operational provisions of the Attendance Policy (2026-27). It is generated solely for research and testing and is not an actual SPIT circular, notice or policy.

The circular is published on 15 December 2026 and becomes effective on 01 January 2027. It is designated document SPIT-ACA-CIR-2026-27-003, Version 1.1. It must be read with SPIT-ACA-ATT-2026-27-001, Version 1.0; SPIT-ACA-CND-2026-27-001; and SPIT-EXM-REG-2026-27-001.

The circular changes only two matters: (a) attendance treatment for qualifying institutional duty that overlaps a scheduled instructional session; and (b) the period for requesting correction of a monthly attendance statement.

Minimum attendance percentages, condonation thresholds, examination fees and examination registration dates remain unchanged.

2. Clause 1 - documents affected and precedence

This circular amends Section 6, “Absence, leave and institutional activities,” and Section 7, “Attendance monitoring and student review,” of SPIT-ACA-ATT-2026-27-001. All references to the original five-working-day discrepancy period are to be interpreted subject to Clause 4 below.

If a provision in the base Attendance Policy conflicts with this circular on qualifying institutional-duty credit or the dispute window, this circular prevails from 01 January 2027. For all other topics, the base Attendance Policy continues to apply. The circular does not revive or incorporate SPIT-ACA-ATT-2024-25-001.

The Attendance Condonation Rules remain in force. A session credited under this circular is treated as deemed attendance and must not also be claimed as condonation. The examination office must use the updated attendance ledger when preparing eligibility snapshots.

3. Clause 2 - deemed attendance for qualifying institutional duty

With effect from 01 January 2027, a student may receive “DA - Deemed Attendance” for a timetabled session missed because the student was assigned to qualifying institutional duty. For a qualifying session, the attendance portal records a deemed credit in the numerator as if the student had attended that session. The underlying record must continue to identify the entry as DA rather than ordinary Present.

The purpose of this change is to avoid penalising a student for a limited, formally authorised institutional assignment that directly conflicts with scheduled teaching. It is not a general event-attendance benefit and does not apply to private, external or self-selected activities.

Condition	Requirement
Authorisation	Written approval before the event from the Dean (Academics), HoD or a designated institutional event authority. In a documented emergency, approval may be recorded within two working days after the event.
Official roster	Student’s name and assigned duty must appear on an official roster or an approved addendum.
Timetable conflict	The duty must overlap a specific scheduled instructional session in a course in which the student is registered.
Completion evidence	The event coordinator must confirm that the student completed the assigned duty.
Credit cap by duration	No more than five academic days of duty credit per student in a semester.
Credit cap by course	No more than 10% of the held sessions in the affected course component in the semester.
Scope	Credit applies only to the specific overlapping sessions and affected course components.
Entry authority	The Attendance and Timetable Cell enters the DA code after document verification.

Examples of potentially qualifying duties include an official institute delegation, a formally assigned student representative role at an approved academic event, or a documented institute-level competition duty. These examples are illustrative only; the written authorisation and all conditions above are mandatory.

4. Clause 3 - exclusions and safeguards for deemed attendance

Deemed attendance is not available for an examination, in-class test, quiz, mandatory safety demonstration, practical competency assessment, viva or any session in which physical participation is itself an assessed learning outcome. The department may arrange a make-up opportunity where the course design permits, but the missed assessment is not recorded as attended.

No credit is available for a student who attends an event without a written duty assignment, appears only as a participant or spectator, leaves the assigned duty incomplete, or submits a certificate that does not identify the authorised assignment and relevant dates. A participation certificate alone is not a duty order.

The cap is applied separately by semester and affected course component. The same session cannot receive more than one attendance entry. A duty day that overlaps several timetabled sessions may be credited only for the specific sessions listed in the approved record, subject to both the five-day and 10% limits.

The DA credit is not a percentage-point condonation adjustment. It is added to the attendance numerator before the percentage is calculated. A student must still satisfy 75% for theory and 80% for practical components after valid DA credits. The credit does not waive either threshold, and it cannot be used to cross the non-condonable floors in the Attendance Condonation Rules.

The Attendance and Timetable Cell must retain the authorisation, roster, completion confirmation, course/session mapping, approver and timestamp. A student may request a correction if a qualifying DA entry is missing, using the dispute period in Clause 4.

5. Clause 4 - revised monthly attendance discrepancy window

For monthly attendance statements issued on or after 01 January 2027, a student has seven working days from the publication date to submit a discrepancy request. This replaces the five-working-day period in Section 7.3 of SPIT-ACA-ATT-2026-27-001 for those statements.

For a statement issued before 01 January 2027, the original five-working-day period continues unless that period remains open on 01 January 2027. If it remains open, the student receives the longer of (a) the unexpired portion of the original five-working-day period or (b) seven working days from the statement's publication date. This transition rule prevents an already closed review period from reopening automatically.

A discrepancy request must identify the course, component, date, timetable session and alleged error. The student should attach available evidence, such as an instructor confirmation or approved DA duty order. A general request to increase the percentage without identifying a record error is not a valid discrepancy request.

The department should acknowledge a complete request within two working days and issue a reasoned decision within five working days. The longer submission window does not change the department's verification responsibilities, condonation filing deadline or appeal period.

6. Matters expressly unchanged

Subject	Rule after this circular
Theory attendance threshold	75% remains unchanged.
Practical attendance threshold	80% remains unchanged.
Combined course	Theory and practical thresholds continue to be tested separately.
Condonation theory range	65.00%-74.99%; below 65.00% remains non-condonable.
Condonation practical range	70.00%-79.99%; below 70.00% remains non-condonable.
Maximum condonation adjustment	Up to 10 percentage points and no more than 10% of held sessions, subject to the rules.

Subject	Rule after this circular
Condonation application deadline	Ten working days after return or event end, or discharge in hospitalisation cases, under SPIT-ACA-CND-2026-27-001.
Exam registration dates and fees	No change to SPIT-EXM-REG-2026-27-001.
2024-25 attendance policy	Remains superseded and historical only.

This clause is included to prevent the two amendments from being misread as a full replacement of the Attendance Policy. Any threshold or deadline not expressly changed above remains as written in the current policy and its separate condonation rules.

7. Implementation responsibilities

The Dean (Academics) is responsible for oversight. HoDs and designated event authorities approve duty assignments. Event coordinators certify completion. Instructors verify timetable conflicts when requested. The Attendance and Timetable Cell enters DA credits and maintains the audit trail. The Controller of Examinations consumes the updated eligibility data but does not approve DA credits.

Departments must communicate the revised seven-working-day review period for statements issued from January 2027. The central portal should display the publication date, review deadline and relevant code. Where the portal cannot calculate working days, the department must communicate the deadline in writing.

Students should submit a duty-credit request as soon as the approved roster is available. The event coordinator should provide completion confirmation within three working days after the event. A student should not assume a credit has been posted until the DA entry appears in the portal.

8. Effective date, transition and document control

The circular is effective 01 January 2027. Duty events completed before that date are not eligible for DA credit under this circular, even if the student later submits the supporting documents. Such events may be considered under the condonation rules only if the student independently meets those rules and their filing deadline.

The seven-working-day review period applies to monthly statements published on or after 01 January 2027, subject to the transition rule in Clause 5. An old statement does not receive a new review period merely because the circular has been issued.

The document control record is: Document ID SPIT-ACA-CIR-2026-27-003; Version 1.1; published 15 December 2026; effective 01 January 2027; issuing department Office of the Dean (Academics) - Attendance and Timetable Cell. The circular amends SPIT-ACA-ATT-2026-27-001 and must be attached to that policy in the official synthetic knowledge base.
